SOCIAL SCIENCE

THE THIRD PLACE

PREMISE

Home and work are not the only places where social life happens. Cafés, parks, libraries, religious spaces and other informal gathering places can become social environments in their own right.

QUESTION

What would happen to society if places where strangers casually meet disappeared?